

Decided on your major & minor?

Identify a few options from our list. Visit their websites for more info.

Meet with the department's advisor.
*Hint: All department websites include advising information for majors & minors.

Ask questions.

- 1) What kinds of jobs do your majors & minors get?
- 2) What kinds of opportunities exist (research, student groups, honors, internships, etc)?
- 3) How can I get hands-on experience?
- 4) Am I on track to graduate?
- 5) What can I do now to prepare for life after RU, like finding a job?

Build your skills.

Research

Get Involved

Tutoring & Academic Coaching

Internships & Co-Ops

SPECIAL EDITION: MAJORS, MINORS & CAREERS

VOLUME 2, ISSUE 2 - OCTOBER 2020

SAS JUNIOR MONTHLY

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW, WHEN YOU NEED TO KNOW IT

Finding the Connection: Your Major and Career

Repeat after us: Major does not equal career. You can work in business without a business degree. History majors have many more options than just teaching. And computer science students are hired in a wide range of fields, like government, education and archeology.

The SAS degree provides you with a wide array of problem-solving skills to creatively tackle any task, challenge, or goal that lies ahead! These attributes are what employers and graduate programs seek in their candidates. This means that you can truly do anything with your SAS degree if you find connections between practical skills and your academic interests. Not sure how to connect the dots? Here are 3 things you can do today:

- 1) Check out our Alumni stories to learn more about what SAS students have accomplished since graduating.
- 2) Ready to declare your major/minor? Log into myMajor to submit your declarations!
- 3) Unsure about your journey? Schedule an SAS advising appointment.

What's Happening?

MINICOURSES

Second 7-week minicourses are open! Contact SAS Advising to add one today.

SAVE THE DATE!

SAS is preparing a full week of events dedicated to your career readiness, Nov 9-13, including a multi-day virtual Major & Minor Fair! Stay tuned for more details.

RU HUNGRY?

The Rutgers Student Food Pantry is open and available to you. Visit their website to schedule a pick-up or donate.

HANDSHAKE

Create your Handshake account to get up-to-date info on networking events, career fairs, and more!