Onward & Upward

So, you got some grades back...

Maybe you aced your recent exams, maybe not so much. Maybe you find the switch to remote learning more challenging than you initially thought. Online services are here to help you bump that B up to an A, or assist with developing entirely new study strategies. The Rutgers Learning Centers offer Webex tutoring and study groups in a wide variety of subjects, and their academic coaches can help you tackle anything from procrastination to exam preparation and note-taking. Visit the RLC's website to access these services now, so you can succeed in May. Oh, did we mention it's free, and you can stay in your pajamas? BONUS!

The P/NC Option
You can opt into having one or more of your grades this semester converted to P/NC. Did you know you can wait until you see your final grade to make a decision? Read about the new policy, and reach out to us if you have questions.

Declare Your Major & Minor Soon!
Most students declare their major & minor by the end of sophomore year.
Use myMajor to declare.
Still deciding? You can use the site to review pre-requisites for declaring, too.
